

I have no objections to people using wireless connections for PDA's and laptops as long as no voice modes are used. I am absolutely against cell phone usage. Conversations on cell phones are not private, and are very annoying in tight locations. Airline travel is stressful enough with the 'cattle car' mentality of today's aircraft. We do not need to make it worse by allowing cell phone conversations.